COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 27, 1880.

A WITHDRAWAL of £3,50,000 from the Bank of England is advised in yesterday's London telegram, but the Money Market shows no change, and Consols have advanced from 100⅛ to ⅜. French Rentes are ¼ lower at 119. Enfaced Rupee Paper is again ⅛ higher at 80¾ for Fours, and 88⅛ for Fours-and-a-half.

Coffee and Cocoanut Oil are unchanged. Linseed is quieter, and 6d. per quarter lower; Rapeseed dull, and 3d. to 6d. per quarter easier for Calcutta, to arrive. Wheat is also dull, with a partial decline of 6d. to 9d. per quarter in London prices. Reuter still adheres to his previous quotations from Liverpool of 9s. 8d. for No. 1 and 9s. 9d. per cental for No. 2, which is manifestly wrong.

The Manchester market continues firm, but with the exception of an advance of ¼d. per lb. in Twist, quotations are all the same as on Tuesday last.

In Liverpool the market yesterday closed firm, the day's sales being estimated at 12,000 bales, of which 1,200 were Surats. Spot prices were unchanged, but futures were again 1-16d. per lb. higher. To-day's report is again firm; sales 12,000, of which 2,000 are Surats. Spot prices show a further rise of 1d. in 16 Mid-Uplands, Fair Omra, and Fair Dhollera, and a like advance has taken place in futures, this month's deliveries being now quoted at 6 13-16d. and March-April at 6 29-32d. per lb. It is in New York, however, that the upward movement is most apparent, ready Mid.-Uplands there yesterday having advanced from 11¼ to 12 cents, and February shipment from 12·18 to 12·36 cents per lb. To-day ready Mid.-Uplands are unchanged, but February shipment has risen to 12·56 cents' We have all along been of opinon that this rise has been due to temporary short-receipts at the American ports, and this is now confirmed by the information issued by Reuter to-day:—"That the American canals are frozen over and 125 vessels are reported icebound." Such an interruption in supplies was, of course, bound to exercise some effect on the market, and should the ice not break up soon it is quite possible that prices may be pushed up still further. Looking to the more distant future, however, we scarcely think the ultimate outturn of the crop likely to be diminished to anything like the extent already discounted, and directly navigation is re-opened the rush of cotton will probably be sufficient to induce a material re-action in prices. The figures to date still show an excess of 180,000 bales over the corresponding period of last year, and it must be borne in mind that a frost at the end of November is a much less injurious thing for the plants than early in October.

The statistical position this week shows no very important movements. The visible supply has increased by 40,000 bales, while the stock in Liverpool is less by 6,000 bales.

The American Crop figures to date give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons:—

| | 1880. | 1879. | 1878. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Week's Receipts ..... | 204,000 | 248,000 | 181,000 |
| ,, Exports to U. K. ..... | 86,000 | 54,000 | 60,000 |
| ,, ,, to Continent .. | 28,000 | 61,000 | 58,000 |
| Total Receipts since 1st Sept... | 2,310,000 | 2,130,000 | 1,721,500 |
| ,, Exports to U. K. ..... | 778,000 | 793,000 | 536,700 |
| ,, ,, to Continent .. | 401,000 | 366,600 | 312,000 |
| ,, Stock in the Ports ..... | 899,000 | 687,000 | 614,000 |

The total visible supply of Cotton for all Europe on the 26th instant compares with the corresponding date on the two previous years as follows:—

| | 1880. | 1879. | 1878. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Total Supply of all kinds..... | 2,340,000 | 1,844,890 | 1,690,210 |
| ,, ,, Surats ..... | 233,000 | 246,300 | 235,800 |

For the U. K. only the figures are:—

| | 1880. | 1879. | 1878. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Stock in Liverpool ..... | 135,000 | 316,860 | 301,010 |
| ,, London ..... | 44,000 | 54,930 | 31,210 |
| American Afloat ..... | 230,000 | 278,000 | 225,000 |
| E. Indian ,, ..... | 17,000 | 17,000 | 68,000 |
| | 716,000 | 707,790 | 626,220 |
| Price of Mid.-Uplands..... | 6 11-16d. | 6d. | 5 7-16d. |
| ,, Fair Dhollera..... | 5d. | 5½d. | 4½d. |
| Difference.. | 1 11-16d. | 1½d. | 1 3-16d. |

EXCHANGE.—Bar Silver from London having come 1-16d. per oz. higher this morning at 51⅞d., the market opened firm, with a partial advance of 1-32d. per rupee. Up to the end of the year the banks have continued buyers at previous rates, but for later delivery they are willing to draw at 1-32d. better, while they decline to buy on any terms. It is quite evident that a feeling prevails that at any moment an upward turn may set in, and this idea is doubtless strengthened just now by the increased amount of private paper offering, both ready and forward. Taking all the surroundings of the market into account, however, we scarcely see grounds for an upward movement just yet, and in all probability any rise at present will only mean a fall again before a permanent improvement sets in. We quote:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Bank Bills on demand | Rs. 7 21-32d. | per rupee. |
| Do. telegraphic | Rs. 7¾d. | ,, |
| Do. 3 months' sight. | Rs. 7⅞d. | ,, |
| Credits, 3 ,, ,, | Rs. 7⅞d. | ,, |
| Documents, 3 ,, ,, | Rs. 7 1 to 29-32d. | ,, |
| Francs, 3 ,, ,, | 2s. 10½d. | ,, |

On Calcutta rates are unchanged.

GOVERNMENT PAPER to-day opened firm, and after receipt of stronger advices from Calcutta an advance of ¼ was established, Fours being quoted at Rs. 98⅜d. to ⅝. Fours-and-a-half to Rs. 107⅝.

SHARES.—The market has undergone hourly fluctuations to-day. At one time values had undergone a material fall all round, but towards the close this was partially recovered. Banks and Land Companies are unaltered. In Press shares Abkar are Rs. 25 higher, but there is a decline of Rs. 5 in Mofussil, Rs. 25 in Colaba, and Rs. 50 in Fort and Prince of Wales. Spinning and Weaving Mill shares are very irregular, but on the whole lower. In Albert the fall has been Rs. 75, in Alliance Rs. 50, in Dhurrumsey Rs. 40, and in other companies Rs. 10 to Rs. 25 per share.

COTTON has again advanced Rs. 4 to Rs. 5 per share owing to the tenor of the New York advices. Good Broach for March has touched Rs. 250 and Hinguphaut for January Rs. 250; but at this level, showing as it does a loss of something like Rs. 8 per candy on home rates, buyers have been few, and the total business is not over some 2,500 bales. Sellers, however, show great firmness, and if at all supported from home, the advance will still go on, although there can be no doubt that a great number of people are only waiting their time to come out as free sellers. We call closing prices:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Good Hinguphaut, Jany. dely..... | Rs. 250 | per candy. | |
| ,, Broach, March ,, ..... | ,, 248 | ,, | |
| ,, Akote, ,, ,, ..... | ,, 235 | ,, | |
| ,, Omra, ,, ,, ..... | ,, 232 | ,, | |
| F. G. F. ,, ,, ..... | ,, 226 | ,, | |

LINSEED is in active request at previous prices.

WHEAT continues to be freely bought at a further advance of as. 4 per candy, say Rs. 3¼ to ½ for Soft White.

FREIGHTS have been quiet but firm. For Liverpool rates are unchanged at 36s. 3d., but Trieste and Venice rates are firmer at 45s. for December and 47s. 6d. further forward.

PIECE-GOODS are quiet and unchanged in value. The day's clearances from the bazaar are estimated at about 300 packages.

COALS are firm, with few sellers, but buyers, so far, seem indisposed to advance their rates.

AYOUB KHAN.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

KANDAHAR, Nov. 27.

There seems to be little doubt that Ayoub is in bad way at Herat. His efforts to organize another crusade have pressed heavily on the people, and the principal tribes have in consequence thrown off their allegiance. They look to us for assistance to enable them to throw off his yoke altogether.

The Turcomans continue to ravage the country. Many villages have been plundered by them, and the inhabitants carried into slavery. In the bazaar it is now believed that Ayoub will solicit assistance from Russia. According to one report, he has already asked the Russian Ambassador at Teheran to telegraph to St. Petersburg, promising in return for money to co-operate against the Turcomans.

* Departure—Clan Fraser.

We publish a supplement to-day, containing our weekly Glasgow Letter; a report of the Hydrabad Races; an interesting contribution from our correspondent in the Wynaad, on the subject of the Indian goldfields; a report of the presentation of an address to H. E. the Viceroy yesterday by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul; a report of Friday's Corporation meeting; and some important extracts, including part of an article by Colonel Malleson on the subject of the retention of Kandahar.

A large sick convoy, escorted by the headquarters and detachment 3rd Q. O. Light Cavalry, under Captain Morely Mayne, and 2 companies 8th N. I., started from Kandahar for India on the 15th inst. Major Crawford, 60th Rifles, and Lieutenant Moss, 2-7th R. F., also come down on sick certificate. Captain Bradish, R. S. F. Militia, and Sub-Lieutenant Batten, 2nd P. C., left Kandahar for Quetta at the same time.

Major Sparks, R. E., has been transferred from Mooltan, from the Indus Valley State Railway, to Bombay, as "port storekeeper," a new post necessitated by the increasing work to be done in Bombay in connection with the various Government lines.

Sir John Strachey leaves Simla on or about the 7th proximo, making his way to Bombay by easy stages, and embarking for Europe on Christmas Day probably.

Mr. C. A. Elliot, the Census Commissioner, arrived in Rangoon from Calcutta on the 16th inst., and has gone on to Prome and Thyetmyoo, accompanied by Mr. Coplestone, who superintends the taking of the census in British Burmah.

It is expected that the portion of the Cawnpore-Farakhabad Railway as far as Miranserai, a distance of about 40 miles, will be open for traffic about the middle of next month. The line is ready for the inspection of Colonel Pemberton, the Consulting Engineer for Railways. The remaining 36 miles are expected to be finished in January.

Mr. Hugh Barnes, lately an Attaché in the Foreign Department, has gone to Kandahar as an Assistant to the Political Officer there.

A correspondent writes to the Pioneer:—The authorities seem to have been very much down on Major Hogg for his account of the Maiwand disaster, which he sent to the papers, and to which he foolishly attached his signature. Had it not been for the doctors he would have been prevented from going home, and as it is, I doubt whether he has heard the last of it.

In the Punjab the selection of the Government for the much coveted appointment of a probationer for the native Civil Service has fallen upon a gentleman who did good service in Afghanistan, Mahomed Afzal Khan, Gundapur, the gentleman in question, is a Chief in the Dera Ismail Khan district, and is well educated in English and Persian.

It is probable, the Pioneer hears, that Mr. R. J. Crosthwaite will come back to India in January, when Mr. Jardine rejoins the Burmah administration as Financial Commissioner.

It is said the Duke of Buckingham will take passage home in the B. I. S. N. Co.'s s. s. Navarino on December 21st. In the short interval between the Duke's departure and Mr. Adam's arrival, Mr. Huddlestone, Senior Member of Council, will act as Provisional Governor.

Orders have been given, the Lahore paper understands, for the immediate removal of the telegraph wire between Lundi Kotal and Peshawur, and an officer has been detailed to superintend the work. The telegraph removed, our contemporary presumes, the troops will follow, and our withdrawal from the Khyber Pass will be accomplished.

A line of telegraph is, it is stated, to be commenced at once from Shanghai to Pekin. The cost is to be paid out of a fine of Tls. 3,000,000 inflicted upon Ch'ung How.

Colonel Malleson's present visit to India, an Allahabad paper states, is at the invitation of his old ward, the Maharaja of Mysore, to be present at his Highness' installation early in next year.

The highest price paid as yet this season for indigo has been Rs. 265 per maund for a lot of 47 chests of the mark E. G. W. Bansghat, Chupra. The Calcutta brokers' reports tell us that buyers continue to show but little disposition to do business for arrival, nor do proprietors seem inclined to accept such offers as have been made.

The Englisman is sorry to hear very unsatisfactory accounts of many native regiments, and trusts that the recommendation of the Army Commission for the breaking up of certain regiments will be rapidly carried into effect. "It is quite notorious that from various causes certain regiments are not as nearly efficient as others, and the sooner they are broken up, and the good men distributed among other corps, and the bad dismissed, the sooner may we hope to arrive at a state of efficiency. To keep on certain regiments now on the list of both cavalry and infantry is a mere waste of money."

Major-General C. C. Johnson resigned his appointment as Quartermaster-General in India last week, and, the Pioneer says, General Macgregor has been appointed to succeed him—in fact he took over charge, formally, a few days ago. "He will, of course, be gazetted a Major-General at once, as the office carries with it that step in promotion; but as he is now on his way to England on three months' leave he will not exercise his functions until March. General Macgregor left Allahabad by the mail train for Bombay on Wednesday evening. We do not know what arrangements have been made for carrying on the work of the Department during his absence, but probably Lieutenant-Colonel Sanford, R.E., who has been made Deputy Quartermaster-General, will officiate for him. No one will question the fitness of General Macgregor for the important post to which he has been appointed, for his sterling qualities as a soldier have long been recognized. He will no doubt return to India with the rank of a K. C. B."

The telegraphic arrangements between British Burmah and the country over which the enlightened and beneficent Theebau reigns are in what Mrs. Brown would term "a pretty pickle." It seems that Moung Hpone, the telegraph master, having utterly failed to obtain the arrears of his salary, has resigned in disgust, and the office at Tagoumoh has been left in charge of his assistant, a signaller who understands no English. To make matters worse, no messages can be sent on, even if written in Burmese. In former days, there was an arrangement between the Burmese Government and our own for the adjustment of charges in the check office but since the rebellion of the Nyoung-oke Prince this has been done away with, and a system adopted of paying cash for each message as it was tendered for transmission. This worked smoothly enough for a time, but our friends across the frontier very soon got tired of the uncongenial practice of parting with money received in consequence of which there are any number of "burked telegrams, dispatched by a too confiding public, lying in the office at Tagoumoh, because there is no money to pay for their transmission over our lines, without which initial ceremony the officials on our side, very naturally, object to receive them. On the other hand, messages from British Burmah are not now received for up-country stations, unless the senders choose to allow them to be forwarded by post from Thayetmyo. Money and messages were, of course, "thankfully received" at Tagoumoh; but, as it was found that they seldom reached their destination, the practice had to be stopped. This state of matters has, of course, almost entirely done away with work at our frontier station of Laingha, and I believe it is under consideration whether or not there is any use in maintaining it. In the meantime, the establishment is being reduced by the recall of the Assistant Telegraphmaster.

There is about to be started at Shanghai the first steam cotton mill in China. The prospectus states that it has been resolved to start a mill for weaving cotton goods by machinery to compete with foreigners, and not with the native handloom weavers. The total quantity of foreign cotton piece-goods disposed of in China annually is valued at thirty million taels, and it is in this trade that the promoters believe a mill on the spot could compete successfully. The Superintendent of Trade of the northern ports, Li-Hung-Chang, Colonel Gordon's friend, has taken the matter into consideration on behalf of the Chinese Government, and is stated to have gone minutely into all the estimates and calculations. It was estimated that, starting with 400 looms, at least 20 per cent. profit would be cleared in the first year. A Government monopoly was to be granted to the mill, and part of the capital was to be subscribed by Government. The project is entirely a native one. The mill, if once set going, may prove to be the thin end of a mighty wedge.

It has sometimes been said, but only by way of pleasantry, says the Bombay Review, that a knowing savan like Dr. Bühler would be certain to reserve for himself and his future purposes all MSS. that are unique or of any special value. From the statement in the Athenæum it would appear that this has actually been done. We are not aware of the special terms on which Dr. Bühler undertook the search for ancient Sanskrit MSS. on behalf of the Bombay Government; and it is out of the question for us to impute any overreaching or dishonourable conduct to the learned professor. Nevertheless, it seems somewhat anomalous that a reaper sent forth to reap his master's field should be able to preserve the ripest and richest sheaves for himself. No doubt the matter admits of full and satisfactory explanation. Still it is somewhat discouraging to hear, every now and then, that the choicest relics of ancient Indian lore have been carried away to Europe—not to the British Museum, the India Office Library, or the Bodleian, but—to Germany to swell the fame of the universities thereof. It is worth while considering whether it would not be better to entrust the research after these hidden treasures entirely to educated natives of this country. They will have a far better chance than any European scholars can have of penetrating into the hidden recesses of these recondite and specially prizeable documents. And supposing that these savans of the soil should occasionally yield to the temptation of sequestrating MSS. for their own purposes, the documents would, at any rate, remain in the country to which they pertain, and in which they form an essential portion of its intellectual heritage.

The Bombay Review:—If it were not that we have had to witness so many evidences of temporary insanity in Indian policy since 1875, we should have deemed it impossible for any responsible official, even at Simla, to conceive at this time of day the notion of curtailing instead of extending the scope of the Press Commissioner's valuable and catholic services. We can remember, though Mr. Lethbridge himself cannot—he was then otherwise engaged—the earlier steps towards supplying the Indian Press with matter and information previously sequestrated in the bureaux. This was in John Lawrence's time who, with all his gruffness, was sincerely anxious that the public should know as much as practicable of the facts on which his administration proceeded. Colonel Allen Johnson, who arrives here in Lord Ripon's suite to-day, will remember well some of the genial and public-spirited men who did their best to give effect to Lord Lawrence's desire to supply the press with current information. In those days press telegraphy was scarcely known in India, and the communiques with which we were favoured had to be laboriously copied by "the sectioners" of the period. Now when the telegraph service has become essential to the daily press, when official news and "authenticatee" facts can be reproduced ad libitum by the bektograph, it would be like going back to pack-horses from railways to cut off the stream of current official information to which the Indian Press and public have become accustomed. We do not believe for a moment that Lord Ripon will fall into the plot to that purpose.

Native Opinion:—Speaking of shrines brings us to the new curch to be built at Malabar Hill. Can the grant of Rs. 5,000 from the public revenues to this building be taken as a token of religious neutrality or a proof of it? Would Government be prepared to vote an equal sum for constructing a temple or a musjid on another part of the city, the respective worshippers raising one-half of the funds? If that cannot be done, why should this be underkaten especially as the residents of the locality concerned are of the richest class in the city? We trust there is a valid answer to this. Our readers will remember that our Municipality has had to pay for the site of the Malabar Hill Reservoir, a work intended for the whole city; and this church gets a site plus Rs. 5,000.

THE BYCULLA CLUB.

BANQUET TO THE VICEROY.

His Excellency the Viceroy was on Saturday evening the guest of the Byculla Club, the members of which entertained his Lordship in a manner which increased their already high reputation for hospitality. The guests were numerous, the viands and wines were irreproachable, and the dinner altogether was a great success. The arrangements made for the reception of the distinguished guests were admirable. The guard of honour in attendance was formed of the Bombay Rifle Volunteers, who turned out in great strength, no less than 154 men, all told, being present, this being the greatest number the corps has ever supplied for a guard. H. E. the Viceroy, through General Hewett, thanked the guard for their attendance and for mustering in such strength; and this compliment they fully deserved. The Viceroy and Sir James Fergusson, accompanied by their staffs, arrived at the club punctually at eight o'clock, and dinner was served shortly afterwards.

Dinner over, and the toasts of the Queen and the Prince of Wales having been given,

The Chairman, Sir Michael Westropp, said:—Gentlemen, the presence here to-night of two of the most distinguished representatives of royalty in India affords one more illustration of the principle on which the Byculla Club has always proceeded in the exercise of its hospitality. (Hear, hear.) The members of this club no doubt form a very large body of men, who entertain very varying opinions on politics; that is to say, many of the members have not been so long in India as to have forgotten the differences between Whig and Tory. (Laughter and hear, hear.) But, gentlemen, we never ask here whether a Viceroy or a Governor has been appointed by a Whig or a Tory administration. (Cheers.) We have such confidence in the institutions of our country as to believe that whatsoever Ministry these institutions may bring into power it will exercise its utmost circumspection and ability in selecting as representatives of Her Majesty in this country men who will make it their best endeavour to promote the welfare of the people of India. (Cheers.) And, gentlemen, in the noble Viceroy whom we now have present we have one who is, by descent as well as by experience, a statesman and a diplomatist. He has held the highest offices in Her Majesty's Government, and amongst them has held the reins of the Government of India in the India Office—(cheers)—and he ever administered the duties of that office with impartiality and honour. (Cheers.) I have no doubt, gentlemen, that you will join with me in wishing to him a happy and successful career in this country, and that when he retires to his noble residence in the heart of Yorkshire he may be able to say he has left a happy, contented, and grateful people to remember him in this country. (Cheers.) I have the honour to propose the health of the Marquis of Ripon, the Viceroy of India. (Cheers.)

The toast was received with loud and prolonged applause, the band playing "A Fine Old English Gentleman."

H. E. the Viceroy rose to respond amid loud and continued cheering. He said:—Mr. Chairman, Your Excellencies, and Gentlemen,—I assure you that I am deeply grateful for the manner in which you have received the toast which has been proposed in such friendly terms by the Chief Justice of Bombay. You, sir, have truly said that I have somewhat of an hereditary interest in India. My grandfather was Governor of Madras, and my first recollections of life are connected with those stirring scenes which marked the Governor-Generalships of Lord Ellenborough and Sir Henry Hardinge, when my father was president of the Board of Control; but I have been frequently reminded as I have proceeded on the short tour which I have lately made through the northern and north-western parts of India of the many distinguished men who have proceeded from the presidency of Bombay. (Cheers.) Even before I came under the shadow of your administration I was reminded at Mooltan that of those two distinguished officers who are commemorated in that monument in the fort in Mooltan in stirring and inspiring language by Sir Herbert Edwardes one, Lieutenant Anderson, was a member of the Bombay Army. (Cheers.) And then, when I entered Sind, you will easily believe how the recollection of Bombay officers, civil and military, filled my mind. At Jacobabad the modest tomb of General Jacob recalled to my memory the eminent services of one who was a great master and ruler of men, who knew how to control wild tribes, and to spread cultivation and agriculture in the districts with which he had to deal. (Cheers.) And as I came down the Indus I passed, if not in actual sight with my eyes, at least in full view with my recollection, that residency of Hyderabad, where Sir James Outram won not the least of those marked distinctions which characterized the famous life of one who carried high the reputation of the Bombay Army, not only in India, but throughout the entire East. (Cheers.) At length I came to Kurrachee, where I was called upon to lay the first stone of a pier which is to be known by the name of one whose timely death and sudden removal from amongst us was a cause of regret to everyone who knew the services which Sir William Merewether has rendered to his country. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, I cannot forget that the illness occasion upon which I had the honour to make the acquaintance of Sir Bartle Frere was when he retired from the position of Commissioner of Sind to be honoured by all people in England who knew his career up to that time—(loud cheers); that career, which has since been rendered illustrious by his services as Governor of Bombay—(cheers)—services which are not unworthy to be recorded upon that roll upon which are inscribed the honoured names of Mountstuart Elphinstone and George Clerk, and which records the calm firmness of Lord Elphinstone in the hour of danger, (cheers), the administrative ability of Sir Philip Wodehouse, and the indomitable energy of Lord Sandhurst. (Loud cheering, which continued for some minutes.) Gentlemen, these memories refer to the past, although some of them recall a past which is still recent; but I believe that those high qualities which have marked the civil and military services of Bombay in days gone by mark them still in the present, and will mark them yet in the future. (Cheers.) I am confident that in the hour of danger, and in the time of need, Her Majesty's Government may never fear to call upon the noble Bombay marine services of the merchants of Bombay. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, I would say to you, especially to the younger members of your distinguished services, set before you the example of the men to whom I have alluded; and in their spirit, in no slavish imitation of their individual opinions, but in that noble spirit which has won for them in the past the admiration and the gratitude of their country, I am sure if you act in that spirit, and apply it to the energy, circumstances, and altered times, the military and civil services of Bombay will receive, and will deserve, from their country, the same acknowledgment in the future that they have obtained in the past. (Cheers.) I cannot forget that I owe to the Presidency of Bombay, and especially, if I mistake not, to the Byculla Club, a peculiar debt of gratitude, because you have given me in one of your ex-presidents a colleague whose assistance I particularly value (cheers); and I can most heartily thank you for the cordial and marked way with which I have derived from the wide experience, the judicial temper, and the administrative knowledge of my friend, Mr. Gibbs. (Loud cheers.) Gentlemen, this review of the past services of Bombay to India and to England, and the confidence which I entertain that Bombay will render yet more important services in the future, make it natural that I should rejoice to find myself within six months of my first advent to India once more amongst you. But, gentlemen, I like candour frank, and I am bound to say that, great as is my respect and regard for this Presidency, it is not simply for the purpose of visiting Bombay that I have come here now. (Laughter.) I trust his lordship's words in the past, have been by some influences—(laughter and cheers)—and it is in the hope that, please God, I may next week welcome my wife to India that I came here. (Cheers and laughter.) I don't think you will blame the wish to come for that one remark. (Cheers.) Those of you who have got good wives well know their value and comfort, and those young reprobates who have not got them had better get them as soon as they can—(laughter and cheers) and then they will appreciate the ample opportunities afforded them by the charming society of Bombay. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, no man who knows what are the blessings of a good wife will doubt that it is a great advantage to a Governor-General of India to have his wife by his side. (Laughter and cheers.) My experience of the last six months has shown me, what no man could doubt, and what certainly I did not doubt when I undertook the duty to accept the heavy task which was entrusted to me by Her Majesty's Government, that the magnitude and the extent of the work and of the responsibilities which are cast upon a Viceroy of India, and days to these cannot be underrated. Gentlemen, since I came to India I think I have had my fair share of those anxieties and those responsibilities. (Cheers.) They have been very great; and I can only submit my conduct under them to the fair and impartial consideration of my countrymen in India and in England (cheers), and say that, so far as I am conscious of it, I have endeavoured to do my duty. (Cheers.) And, further, I can say without any hesitation that I have received that which I fully expected to receive when I came out here, the able, the earnest, and the loyal support of the civil and military services throughout India. (Cheers) Gentlemen, the Governor-General of India is the ruler of the whole of India; he is not the ruler of any one interest. Of none. It is his duty to take into consideration the interests of every portion of those vast dominions which fall under the rule of our Queen-Empress; to endeavour to understand the nature and the interests of all of them; and he is entitled, I think, to look for the loyal support and assistance of all. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, I fully believe that I may count to the utmost on the support and assistance of the presidency of Bombay, and may rest assured that the confidence which I feel in the loyalty of the inhabitants—European and native—of every part of this presidency, and in the zealous and public-spirited assistance of the civil and military services in Bombay, will never be falsified. (Cheers). Therefore, gentlemen, it is with great satisfaction that I have met you upon this occasion, and that I return to you my hearty thanks for the reception which you have given me; and I assure you that all which concerns your interests, of whatever kind or description, will always receive me, and I am confident from my colleagues in the Government of India, the most careful and impartial consideration. (Loud and continued cheers.)

The Chairman: Gentlemen, you have drunk the health of the Viceroy of India, and although the weight upon the shoulders of the Governor of Bombay is not so heavy as that which necessarily must press upon those of the Viceroy of India, yet I think you will all agree with me that the duties which it behoves the Governor of Bombay to perform are quite as large as will afford ample occupation to the able administrator who sits beside me. (Cheers.) He, gentlemen, is not a novice with regard to India. He has served his time also in the India Office, and has from that time forward taken a deep interest in the welfare of the inhabitants of this country; and I doubt not gentlemen, that his ability and experience—his parliamentary experience and his experience as a distinguished Governor of other important colonies belonging to England—will stand him in good stead during his reign here. Gentlemen, the country from which he comes has sent many distinguished men to govern this presidency. (Cheers.) I can only name some of them, beginning with Governor Duncan, who reigned here for nineteen years, respected by all men throughout the length and breadth of Bombay. Next, gentlemen, comes the illustrious name of Mountstuart Elphinstone, which is to be found in every part of this presidency cherished by its inhabitants; and then we have another gentleman who ruled this presidency during the Mutiny, and showed that energy which did so much to retain India for the Crown of England—need I name Sir George Clerk? (Cheers.) I think, gentlemen, under these circumstances we may expect that the distinguished Scotchman who now rules the Presidency of Bombay will always aim to excel, so far as in him lies, the admirable manner in which this Presidency has already been governed by many of his countrymen. During the short period he has been here he has done much to make himself popular with the people of Bombay; and we trust that when, five years hence, he departs to his own country, he may be well satisfied that the time he has spent here has been for the benefit of the people and to his own honour and credit. (Loud cheers.)

H. E. the Governor, who was received with loud cheers on rising to respond, said: Mr. Chairman, your Excellency, and Gentlemen,—I feel deeply indebted to your respected chairman, the Chief Justice of Bombay, for the very kind terms in which he has presented the toast of my health to your attention, and I am much obliged to you for the kindness with which you have drunk it. I cannot, however, forget that I come among you not so much as a guest, though you have been so kind as to admit me in that capacity, but as one of yourselves, met together to do all honour in our power to our one most distinguished guest. (Cheers.) You have been so good as to mark with approval my remarks that I am one of yourselves. (Cheers.) It is the happy fortune of a Governor of Bombay to be admitted to the Byculla Club without ballot, and as I had in other days my ups and downs in elections, I cannot be too grateful for the public spirit of the founders of this institution, who admitted the Governor of Bombay without the risks of accident. I look forward to many happy days in this club; and I assure you that, although I appreciate the great advantage which has been given me without risk of failure, I should be very wrong to detain you on the present occasion with any remarks proper to my own office. I trust to have many other opportunities of doing so, and perhaps I should prefer it if I were able to prove in some degree my deserts, according to that which has been said by your chairman, by acts rather than by words. I am sure that in all that I shall have to undertake I shall have the cordial assistance of my honourable colleagues, and I am equally certain that the loyal and devoted spirit which has animated the civil and military services in times past will continue to guide their labours for the good of this presidency. (Loud cheers.)

The Hon. Lionel Ashburner, in proposing "The Army, Navy, and Volunteers," said the entertainment had been given specially in honour of H. E. the Viceroy, and it was desired by the committee who had the management of it that there should be no speechifying (laughter), or at least that only the toast of Her Majesty the Queen and her most worthy representatives their Excellencies the guests of the evening should be given. But the successful relief of the garrison of Kandahar had excited so much enthusiasm, and so many troops were yet employed in the field, exposed to all the dangers and privations which necessarily accompanied service in the country of a barbarous enemy, that it would appear ungracious if this entertainment were allowed to pass without some notice of the army. The army having been toasted, it followed naturally that the navy, the sister service, represented on that occasion by H.E. Admiral Gore Jones, should also be toasted. Nor could they afford to pass the volunteers without notice, for no larger portion of the army was employed beyond the frontier the volunteers must necessarily have contributed to the tranquility of the country. Those who looked back to the troublous times of the Mutiny could well understand the assistance and aid the volunteers afforded to the Government, and could appreciate the sacrifice of time, comfort, and money which they made for the public good (applause). For his part, he need not enumerate the many occasions on which the army and navy had distinguished themselves. Were all their deeds not written in the pages of history—why, then, enumerate them? He begged therefore to propose without further remark, "the Army, Navy, and Volunteers." (Applause.)

H. E. General Ware, in responding, said—Before I return thanks on behalf of that service in which I have served until I have become grey, I request you will allow me to apologise for having inflicted upon you a good many additional toasts. My honourable friend on the left has reminded me that this is a private meeting. I was not aware of this, or I should not have asked that this toast should be admitted. But, gentlemen, on behalf of the army I am glad of this opportunity of returning thanks to your noble guest for having acknowledged the services of a force that I was almost afraid had been forgotten. I allude to the force under General Phayre (loud and continued applause); to the strenuous exertions which he made to reach Kandahar in time to meet General Roberts, who after his successful march was able, as a general officer said to me, to "wipe his eye" and to get on the ground in time to scatter the already almost scattered forces of Ayoub. We did not reap the benefit of his extraordinary exertions, for he did not meet the enemy, but he did his best to bring the convoy of which he had charge to a successful conclusion; and I am quite sure that the acknowledgments of H. E. the Viceroy the other day has gone to the hearts of those men who thought they were almost forgotten. It is not for me to enumerate the gallant deeds of the Bombay army. (Applause.) An unfortunate event occurred a short time ago—an event which, though it cost us a great many valuable lives, I contend attained the end which was desired—it stopped Ayoub Khan's advance. That event has unfortunately been subjected to many adverse remarks; but I assure you that when I speak simply as the Commander of the Bombay army I can say I have not in any way lost confidence in the Bombay sepoy, and I trust I may yet have the opportunity, which has hitherto been denied me of leading them against the enemy (loud and prolonged applause). I beg again to thank you for the toast you have so kindly received, and of the opportunity you have given me of returning thanks for the whole army of the Queen-Empress and especially for that section which I have the honour to command. (Aplause.)

H. E. Admiral Gore Jones, in replying for the navy, said—After the orations we have heard this evening and the extremely laudatory terms in which the army and navy have been mentioned, I consider myself to have been born under a lucky star. I have three times assisted at these genial banquets which the hospitable members of the far-famed Byculla Club are in the habit of giving. I will refer to these occasions because they are matters connected with Bombay. The first time I had the honour of appearing here was on the occasion of Admiral King coming here to take the place, as it were, of the old Bombay marine. This club gave us the hand of good fellowship, which, under the circumstances, was much appreciated. The old Bombay marine was a service which had many great records, and the public at large were sorry to see it come to such an untimely end. I am glad to see that amongst the members of the Bombay marine an historian has sprung up, and though their life was short, they will live in history. I refer to Captain Lowe, who has written their history. The second of the occasions of which I have spoken was to take a farewell of that man of splendid energy, Sir Richard Temple. (Loud applause.) If the good wishes of the Byculla Club could have brought him good fortune in all that he undertook, he would have succeded in everything; but Fortune is a fickle and sorry jade, and failed to bring to him the goal to which he aspired. But that was not our fault. The third occasion is the present, when we have assembled to welcome an illustrious nobleman and an approved statesman who has been selected by his sovereign for the highest post in an Englishman to occupy. I consider it was my fate to live in the far West some years ago, and the name of our Viceroy was then in the mouths of all men. He had then concluded a satisfactory arrangement by which bad feelling was soothed down between two great nations—a state of things brought about by the extraordinary ability displayed by his lordship; a great diplomatic feat which pleased the English and the American Governments, and which pleased the English and American people. I am now delighted to see him here, his star rising in the East and glowing with peculiar brilliancy. Though the man who puts on his armour must not boast like him that takes it off, I may venture to say, looking at his lordship's services in the past, that he and the Viceroy will be classed among the illustrious men who have made the name of Englishman synonymous with that of governor of men. With regard to the toast with which my name is particularly associated—the visit of the fleet—I thank you (Cheers.) Those of you who have got good wives well know their value and comfort, and those young reprobates who have not got them had better get them as soon as they can—(laughter and cheers) and then they will appreciate the ample opportunities afforded them by the charming society of Bombay. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, no man who knows what are the blessings of a good wife will doubt that it is a great advantage to a Governor-General of India to have his wife by his side. (Laughter and cheers.) I have no doubt, gentlemen, that if it were necessary to prove this, he might point to the fact that on two occasions that day they had cheerfully turned out to show their loyalty to Her Majesty the Queen-Empress of India. (Applause.)

The Hon'ble Mr. Ravenscroft said that at the last moment he had been called on to propose a toast which was always cordially accepted where Englishmen met together, in whatever part of the world, whether in their own country or in any of the numerous dependencies of the British Crown. They all felt how much they owed to the reign of law and justice, which brought glory as well as the noble deeds of the army and navy. They all felt that the credit of the nation and the high estimation in which it was held were due in a great measure to the feeling that under the banner of Her Majesty law and justice were impartially administered, and for that administration they were indebted to the ability and labour of those who for many years had passed their lives in the administration of the law in this country, and in a lesser degree, they were also indebted to those gentlemen who placed criminal and civil cases before the judges. The Bench and Bar of Bombay had, he was bound to say, always maintained a high position and as long as the offices were filled by gentlemen of such reputation, integrity, and ability as those whom he saw around him, the prestige of Bombay would be sustained, whilst the people of the country rendered cheerful obedience to Her Majesty. With the toast of "the Bench and Bar" he associated the names of Sir Charles Sargent and Mr. Marriott. (Applause.)

Sir Charles Sargent, in replying, said it was a painful condition under which the administrators of justice had to discharge their duties that as a matter of necessity they must give dissatisfaction and displeasure, but only, they hoped, for a passing moment. It was therefore in a very special sense a matter of great satisfaction to them that their administration of justice should meet with the approval of the public at large. He saw among them gentlemen representing great interests to whom the administration of justice was of paramount importance. Notwithstanding many difficulties the High Court of Bombay had always contrived to maintain the high character which it had for so many years enjoyed in that Presidency. He should tell them that much of their success was due to the members of the Bar, whose assistance had always been of the greatest importance, and whose learning, abilities, and industry were too well known to need any ecomium from him. In the name of his colleagues and himself he thanked them for their kind appreciation of the toast. (Applause.)

Mr. Marriott, in replying on behalf of the Bar, said it was not in England only, but everywhere where British institutions flourished, that the Bar was considered one of the national institutions. As far as in them lay, the Bar acted justly, but the popularity they enjoyed extended a little further than that; and though they might to the best of their ability assist the Bench in the administration of justice, yet he was proud to say that their popularity went further than that. It arose from their ancestors, who were in support of free thought, free speech and a free press, and when those liberties were assailed it was the members of the Bar who were the first and foremost to defend them. These facts were apparent from the biographies of the most celebrated lawyers, and in reading them they read the struggles of the English people for constitutional liberty. (Applause.)

H. E. the Viceroy said: Gentlemen, I am the last man in the world who would desire for a moment to depart from official routine: but I find there is one omission from this toast list, which the cordial modesty of the Byculla Club failed to supply, and that is the toast of the club itself in recognition of its splendid hospitality on this occasion. (Cheers.) Permit me to go beyond that list and add at least one toast. I am sure that, while we all desire that the Byculla Club should prosper and flourish, we do so the more because we have had an opportunity of learning something of the hospitality of the club, of which all who are acquainted with India have long heard, and because you find that it is not the mere self-love of the inhabitants of Bombay, or the mere conceit of the members of the Byculla Club—(laughter)—that has occasioned its widespread fame. For that opportunity which we have had of tasting the hospitality of the club I heartily thank its members, and in doing so I am sure I am only speaking the sentiments of all the other visitors. (Cheers.) There is nothing which is more invariably engaged in than occasions of this kind for anyone to allude to previous speeches, for the inevitable result of such a procedure would be to prolong to an inconvenient period the oratorical efforts of the evening. Nevertheless I desire to say, with reference to what has fallen from my friend, the Commander-in-Chief, the Government of India and myself individually highly appreciate those great and undoubted efforts which were made, under difficulties which it is difficult to overestimate, by General Phayre and the troops under his command. (Loud applause.) Gentlemen, those are not sentiments which I express on this occasion because I am the guest of the Byculla Club in Bombay. They are sentiments which have been expressed in official despatches by the Government of India to the Secretary of State. (Loud cheers.)

The Chairman: On behalf of the Byculla Club all that it is necessary for me to say is that whensoever again we may have an opportunity of according our hospitality to His Excellency the Viceroy of India, or to His Excellency the Governor of Bombay, we shall be only too glad to accord it here. (Loud cheers.)

The company shortly afterwards separated.

SOCIETY OF St. VINCENT DE PAUL.

H. E. the Viceroy made the following reply to the address presented to him last evening by a deputation of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, which we publish in our supplement:—

Your Lordship and brethren of the Society of St. Vincent De Paul, it gives me, I assure, you great pleasure to meet you on this occasion. It has been a cause of regret to me, which has resulted from the office with which I have been recently entrusted, that the circumstances of my position as Viceroy of India render it impossible for me any longer to continue an active member of the Society of St. Vincent De Paul. I do not mean for one moment to imply that there is any position howsoever high that is inconsistent with the principles of the Society. The history of the Society shew, us that some of its most active and earnest members, in the various countries of the world, have been very busy men, and yet that they have often opportunities to steal from their scanty leisure the means of devoting many an hour to the service of God and the assistance of His poor. But there are circumstances connected with the position of a Governor-General which would render the discharge of the duties of a member of the Society impossible. Brethren, I was first led to join the Society of St. Vincent de Paul from a perusal of your rules which seem to me to present a singular combination of sincere piety, of wise charity, and the most loving consideration for the poor. It was that spirit of true piety, combined with a knowledge of the world, and especially of the poor as they really are, which led me to see the great importance of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul to the populations amongst which it may be established in any part of the world. (Applause.) But brethren, as you know very well, this Society is not to be regarded as a merely philanthropic institution. If we were to look at it in that respect, we should find that it derived from the spirit of the devoted men who founded the Society, and who have the spirit of the great Saint we have taken for our patron, and under whose protection we range ourselves. The Society of St. Vincent de Paul is not a Society formed for the purpose of appearing a certain number of rupees to the poor of any country, but it is a Society which seeks to bind men together and bring to the homes of the poor that which is more valuable than money—a deep, earnest, loving sympathy. Brethren, you shall find that the rich are bound to say that it is not only for the sake of the poor that we do this. It is for our own sakes also. We have many a lesson to

"Amongst the many brands of Champagne, good, bad, and indifferent, it is often rather puzzling to know which to choose, but when a Wine rapidly rises into fame, and is acknowledged by Connoisseurs to be of the highest quality, it may be inferred that but little risk can be run in ordering it. This is the case with the Wine of WACHTER & Co., of Epernay, which has of late been so patronised by Royalty that it may fairly claim to be called Royal Wine."—MORNING POST.

V. DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE, R.

PROTECTED BY THE ROYAL LETTERS PATENT, DATED OCTOBER 11, 1869.

The New Curative Agent and only Reliable Remedy for Indigestion, Nervous and Liver Complaints Fevers, and all Functional Derangements.

DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE is acknowledged by the first medical men in Europe as the most efficacious medicine hitherto discovered for Weak and Shattered Constitutions, Nervous Debility, Aversion or Incapacity for Study, Trembling of the Limbs, Indigestion, Female Complaints, Flatulence, Liver Complaints, Shortness of Breath, Drowsiness, Pains in the Head, Pimples, Impoverished Blood, and all diseases caused by a long residence in tropical climates, for which iron, mercury, iodide of potass, &c., are given in various forms, often to the destruction of the patient's health.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC IN INDIA.

Beware of a WORTHLESS IMITATION, advertised in a few Indian Newspapers. Dr. Bright's (the only genuine) Phosphodyne is the safest and most reliable preparation of Phosphorus, and the only medicine of that name recommended by the Medical Faculty.

Fraudulent Imitations are in no way recognized by the Medical Profession, and are either Useless or Positively Dangerous.

DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE.—Until the introduction of DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE in 1869, Phosphorus was but seldom prescribed as a Medicine, owing to the difficulty in so preparing it that its action could be kept under perfect control. It had been used in Almond and Olive Oils, in Sulphuric Ether, in rectified Alcohol, in Chloroform, and in several advertised medicines; but in all the hitherto known methods of its preparation, certain irregular results have been experienced. But in the form of DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE, its invaluable action on the human system is realized without any of those drawbacks which other modes of preparation invariably produce.

DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE

Is sold in Cases only by all Chemists and Storekeepers throughout the Globe.

DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE.—Full Directions for use in the English, French, German Italian, Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Danish, Turkish, Persian, Hindostani, Madrassee, Bengalee, Chinese and Japanese Languages accompany each case.

DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE.—Purchasers of this medicine should be careful to observe that the words "Dr. Bright's Phosphodyne" are blown in the bottle, and that the directions for use are printed in all the languages as above, without which none can possibly be genuine Phosphodyne. Every Case bears the Trade Mark and Signature of Patentee.

☞ ASK FOR DR. BRIGHT'S PHOSPHODYNE,
And do not be pursuaded to take any Useless and Possibly Dangerous Substitute.

DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE.

TRADE MARK—PHOSPHODYNE.
DISCOVERED AND SO NAMED, A. D. 1862, BY R. D. LALOR, M. D.

DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE is a Pure Solution of PHOSPHORUS, in combination with the Vegetable Alkoloids Quinine, Cypripedin, Xanthoxylin, &c., prepared by a Chemical process known only to DR. LALOR, producing a remarkably Elegant and Pleasant Tasted Preparation, equal to the best Wines, perfectly free from Strychnia and all other Dangerously Active Drugs; superseding the numerous objectionable forms of Phosphorus Pills, Pilules, Oils, and other Nauseous Mixtures with which the Market has been flooded since the Phosphoric Treatment of Disease was first made public by Dr. R. D. Lalor, in 1862.
To Residents in India, China, and the Colonies, it will prove invaluable as a Reliable Liver Tonic and a Vitalizing Restorative.
This Phosphatic combination, the Wonder of Modern Chemistry, is pronounced by the most eminent Members of the Medical Profession to be unequalled for its power in recruiting and elaborating the Vitality of the body; by its supplying all the essential constituents of the BLOOD, BRAIN, and NERVE SUBSTANCE; and for developing all the Powers and Functions of the System to the highest degree; by its being agreeable to the palate, and innocent in its action. While retaining its wonderful properties, it acts as a Specific, surpassing all the known THERAPEUTIC AGENTS of the present age, for the SPEEDY and PERMANENT CURE of all derangements of the Nervous and Blood Systems, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Mental and Physical Depression, Incapacity for Study or Business, Noises in the Head and Ears, Loss of Energy and Appetite, Indigestion and Liver Complaints, Flatulance, Nervous Fancies, Hypochondria, Nervous Debility in all its Stages, Loss of Memory, Softening of the Brain, Paralysis, Affections of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Deposits, &c. Ague, Spasms, Asthma, Consumption, Caronic Bronchitis, Scrofula and Skin Diseases, Wasting or Withering of the Muscles, Impaired Nutrition, Impoverished Blood, Premature Decline, and all morbid Conditions of the system, dependent upon the deficiency of THE VITAL FORCES arising from whatever cause

Gives back to the Human structure in a suitable form the Phosphoric or Lively Animating element of life which has been exhausted directly on the Brain, Spinal Marrow and Nervous System, of a Nutritive Tonnic, and Invigorating character; thereby checking all wasting of the Vital Fluid, and the more Exhausting Processes of Life, maintaining that Buoyant Energy of the Brain and Muscular System which renders the Mind Cheerful, Happy, Brilliant, and Energetic, entirely overcoming that Dull, Inactive and Sluggish Disposition which many Persons experience in all their action.

CAUTION.—The Name DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE is blown in the Glass of each Bottle, and the Genuine PHOSPHODYNE is manufactured at and is obtainable only direct from Dr. Lalor's Laboratory, London, England. WHOLESALE and EXPORT HOUSES are Specially requested to NOTE this, Sold in Bottles at 4s. 6d. and 11s. by all Export Wholesale and Retail Medicine Vendors throughout the World.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Every Bottle bears the British Government Stamp, with the words DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE, London, England, engraved thereon by Order of Her Majesty's Honourable Commissioners. IF NOT, IT IS A FORGERY, and you have been imposed on by a worthless imitation.

PUBLIC NOTICE and WARNING to Medicine Vendors and the Public in Great Britain, India, China, and the Colonies.—DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE is the only Medicine bearing the name PHOSPHODYNE that has the Sanction of the British Government, and for which Her Majesty's Registrar of "Trade Marks" has granted Certificates to DR. LALOR'S ONLY. Therefore DR. LALOR'S is the only Legitimate and Genuine PHOSPHODYNE BEWARE of Worthless Counterfeits that may emanate from Australia or America.

MESSRS. FAVRE, LEUBA & Co. beg to draw particular attention to the above watches, and confidently recommend them to every person who wants to buy a watch: CHEAP, STRONG, and GOOD.
These watches are of moderate size, in an extremely well-made and tight-shutting German Silver case. The movement is protected inside by a glass dome.
The movement has a Patent Lever Escapement, built on the soundest scientific principles.
The watches are keyless, and the hands are set also through the keyless mechanism, so that there is no necessity of opening the watch.
The watches have a second hand.
The figures of the dial and the hands are left extra bold, so that the time can be seen instantly on a glance at the dial, and in nearly complete darkness.
The watch, as a whole, combines strength with all the conditions necessary to good time-keeping.
This watch has proved a complete success as a CAMPAIGN WATCH, and its usefulness is recognised by the daily increasing demand from all quarters of our Army in the field.
To Shikaries, Sportsmen, &c., these watches will prove to stand any amount of rough usage and handling.
We guarantee riding will not effect the working of these watches.
We dare confidently say that these watches, if treated with ordinary care, and cleaned once every two years, will give a 15 years' good service.
Every watch is fitted in a wooden case, in which will be found a spare glass, and a spare mainspring.
We receive now regular shipments of these watches by each mail, and every order can for the future be executed by return post.
Only watches that have been examined and timed are despatched on orders.
